Student Retention Programs
The Opportunity
This campus-wide research program was established to encourage collaborations between undergraduate students and faculty mentors, while assisting faculty with research and other creative projects.

Sophomores, juniors and seniors from all disciplines are encouraged to pursue this valuable opportunity.

MORE aims to empower minority students from underrepresented and lower-income populations who are pursuing careers where research skills are beneficial prior to their chosen careers.

Students will be introduced to research techniques appropriate to their chosen field of study.

Students Are Eligible If They . . .
- Are a current student with the status of sophomore, junior or senior.
- Have a cumulative GPA of 2.4 or above.
- Submit at least one letter of recommendation from an IU Northwest faculty member.
- Successfully complete an interview with a potential faculty mentor.

Faculty Commitment
All IU Northwest faculty are encouraged to participate in this academic retention initiative. Faculty mentors define research projects and supervise students with implementation. Faculty participation incentive funds have been committed by Academic Affairs.

How To Apply
Students must first complete the MORE application available online, and then submit at least one letter of recommendation by October 17, 2014.

Contact the Office of Diversity, Equity and Multicultural Affairs located in Moraine Room 109, 219-980-7757.

Faculty will be matched with students from a list compiled by Academic Affairs. The Office of Diversity, Equity and Multicultural Affairs will then use that list to determine the best match. Faculty will then conduct interviews and make their selections for the most appropriate research assistant.
