I. COURSE DESCRIPTION

Bulletin Description. Methods, techniques, content, and materials applicable to the teaching of English in the junior high/middle school.

Expanded Description. Methods of Teaching JH/MS English and its corresponding M401 Field Experience has been designed to serve as an study, application, and reflection of basic methods for teaching English in grades 6 through 12. Emphasis is placed on the curriculum and delivery of English instruction, i.e., writing, grammar, literature, and mass media. Approaches to planning, preparing, guiding, reinforcing, managing, and evaluating students' acquisition and understanding of English concepts will be the WHAT of this course. The field experiences in the high school and middle school grades will provide for the HOW and WHEN. These experiences are designed to integrate the content (subject matter of English) of the presentation-demonstration-planning-discussion sessions with context (experiences with pedagogy of teaching in the English classroom). While all activities and required assignments are designed in accordance with the School’s initial program, this course will focus directly on the “Higher Order Thinking Skills” and “Instructional Design & Delivery” outcomes.

II. SCHOOL OF EDUCATION MODEL

This required course in the School of Education’s Secondary Education Program reflects the program outcomes and principles of the “Reflective Professional” Conceptual Framework. The nine program outcomes of the Reflective Professional model are presented in the summary chart below; the course objectives are keyed to the respective outcomes within the chart.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Complementing the program outcomes of the School's "Reflective Professional" conceptual framework, EDUC M452 is designed to help you accomplish the following instructional objectives:

1. examine the teaching of English in America and judge its relative effectiveness for preparing, guiding, and reinforcing students' understanding and application of English/language arts concepts;

2. describe and judge the national (NCTE/IRA) and state-mandated standards for a senior high/junior high/middle school English curriculum;

3. identify and promote use of language arts concepts around contributions and viewpoints of many different types of groups (e.g., women, African Americans, Hispanics);

4. examine and judge the effectiveness of English texts, materials, and supplementals to help promote students' understanding and appreciation of English concepts;

5. analyze and judge the effectiveness of approaches for managing students, curriculum, class time, and classroom environment to deliver English instruction;

6. design specific lesson plans for delivering instruction in grammar, literature, and writing;

7. design an assessment plan for tracking students' progress through literature, writing, and grammar instruction;

8. apply lesson plans to field-based settings (middle and high school English classrooms) which are designed to promote students' preparation for, guidance through, and reinforcement of concepts of grammar mechanics, literature, writing, and drama; and,

9. use a variety of media communication techniques (e.g., overhead transparencies, video, interactive computer software, PowerPoint slide shows) for foster active inquiry, collaboration and supportive interaction in the classroom.

TEACHING STYLES

The following teaching styles, approaches and management techniques that I will employ in this course are designed to model for you the very methods of assessment and teaching identified for inclusion in this course:

- Guided discovery
- Socratic seminar discussion
- Direct instruction
- Across-content integrated instruction
- Multicultural literature/media
- Video-based micro-teaching
- Reflective simulation/problem-solving
• Multimedia/hypermedia presentations
• Cooperative learning/grouping

In every setting, I will use the strategies and techniques of this course in simulation to provide you with the experience of being the “student” with the approach before turning over responsibility to you for taking the role of the teacher in preparation and delivery.

III. COURSE MATERIALS

The text listed below is required and should be brought to each class session. This text is available at the Union Bookstore. You should also obtain a textbook related to your “content” major and grade level of interest to bring to class each time.

IV. COURSE ASSIGNMENTS AND ACTIVITIES

The first and by far most important requirement of this course is your regular attendance, punctuality, and participation in the series of class activities, discussions, lectures, demonstrations and field experiences. This participation is worth ONE HUNDRED POINTS toward your final grade in this course. In addition, the course requirements include:

1. SOCRA TIC SEMINAR LESSON PLAN. Design (and deliver) a Socratic seminar script that details the procedures and questions you will follow for class discussion. [Guidelines will be provided for this activity.] This activity is worth FIFTY POINTS of credit.

2. LITERATURE/LANGUAGE PLAN. Design—and deliver part of—a multi-day teaching plan that scaffolds (prepares, guides, and reinforces) middle or high school students’ understanding and appreciation for the meaning, structure and language of a piece of literature. [Guidelines will be provided for this activity.] This activity is worth ONE HUNDRED POINTS of credit. This project is designed to provide you with artifact evidence for having met the “Instructional Design & Delivery” Reflective Professional outcome.
3. DIRECT TEACHING WORKSHOP MINI-LESSON PLAN. Design (and deliver) a language arts mini-lesson plan that directly teaches or reinforces middle or high school students' specific use of skills, strategies, and structures in reading, writing, speaking and listening. [Guidelines will be provided for this activity.] This activity is worth ONE HUNDRED POINTS of credit.

4. WRITING/GRAMMAR MINI-UNIT PLAN. Design (and deliver part of) a multi-day teaching plan that directly presents or reinforces middle or high school students' writing at the various process stages of development and production. [Guidelines will be provided for this activity.] This activity is worth ONE HUNDRED POINTS of credit.

5. ENGLISH INCLUSION UNIT PYRAMID PLAN. Using the unit pyramid planning format, redesign one of your English unit plans to “include” augmented materials and resources, presentation, discussion, assignment, and evaluation methods for those students in the English class who have different learning styles and needs. [Guidelines will be provided for this activity.] This activity is worth ONE FIFTY POINTS of credit.

6. ENGLISH CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT PLAN. Design a classroom management/discipline action plan for leading, mediating and serving English/language arts students. Include classroom layouts, trust-building strategies, classroom rules, assignment policies, timeout/referral policies. [Guidelines will be provided for this activity.] This activity is worth ONE HUNDRED POINTS of credit.

7. CONCEPTUAL UNIT PLAN. Design a three-week unit plan for a specified theme or issue that includes corresponding literature, writing, drama, media and language/grammar activities that prepare, guide and reinforce the issue/theme under study. [Guidelines will be provided for this activity.] This activity is worth TWO HUNDRED POINTS of credit.

ATTENDANCE AND REQUIREMENTS POLICY

1. Regular and punctual attendance is expected and will be monitored. Failing to attend class or arriving late sends the worst possible message about your commitment to teaching. Three missed classes will result in a one-grade drop from your highest possible grade score. More than three absences may result in your being dropped from the class roster.

2. Required projects/assignments must be submitted on or before the established due-dates. Five percent (5%) of your highest possible earned score will be deducted for EACH DAY the required project/assignment is late.

3. Project/assignment revisions may be submitted for a possible improved score on each written course project if—and only if—you have turned in your activity on or before the due date. No “late” project revisions will be accepted, Deadline for each project revision is ONE week. The “highest” possible revision score is set at 91%.

V. GRADING / EVALUATION SYSTEM

The class quizzes/activities and the six course project assignments add up to a total potential of 800 POINTS. These scores (original or revised) will then be summed and averaged to determine your overall course grade in terms of the scale below:
VI. COURSE BIBLIOGRAPHY

VII. PRINCIPLES OF THE INTERSTATE NEW TEACHER ASSESSMENT AND SUPPORT CONSORTIUM (INTASC)

The INTASC principals are addressed by the Conceptual Model that underlies all of the initial programs of the School of Education at IUN. The 10 principles are listed below followed by a table that shows how the objectives of this course relate to the principles.

1. The teacher understands the central concepts, tools of inquiry, and structures of the discipline(s) he or she teaches and can create learning experiences that make these aspects of subject matter meaningful for students.

2. The teacher understands how children learn and develop, and can provide learning opportunities that support their intellectual, social and personal development.

3. The teacher understands how students differ in their approaches to learning and creates instructional opportunities that are adapted to diverse learners.

4. The teacher understands and uses a variety of instructional strategies to encourage students’ development of critical thinking, problem-solving, and performance skills.
5. The teacher uses an understanding of individual and group motivation and behavior to create a learning environment that encourages positive social interaction, active engagement in learning, and self-motivation.

6. The teacher uses knowledge of effective verbal, nonverbal, and media communication techniques to foster active inquiry, collaboration, and supportive interaction in the classroom.

7. The teacher plans instruction based upon knowledge of subject matter, students, the community and curriculum goals.

8. The teacher understands and uses formal and informal assessment strategies to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social and physical development of the learner.

9. The teacher is a reflective practitioner who continually evaluates the effects of his/her choices and actions on others (students, parents, and other professionals in the learning community) and who actively seeks out opportunities to grow professionally.

10. The teacher fosters relationships with school colleagues, parents and agencies in the larger community to support students' learning and well-being.

VIII. INDIANA PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS BOARD DEVELOPMENTAL STANDARDS

The Indiana Professional Standards Board has established developmental standards for Teachers of Early childhood, Teachers of Middle childhood, Early Adolescence Generalist Teachers, and Teachers of Adolescence & Yong Adults. The last two categories are relevant to the outcomes of this course. A complete listing and discussion of these is found at the following web-site: http://www.state.in.us/psb/future/future.htm. The following table indicates how the objectives of this course are keyed to those developmental standards.
