

1. We talked about Franz Boas teaching his students to do SALVAGE anthropology, to record what they could before the cultures and languages disappear. Anthropologists still do this, but they often call it _____ anthropology.

Choose one: Crisis Urgent Vital Critical Forensic

2. What do we call a rural farmer who is economically tied to the land and has a small surplus that goes to a dominant group?

- A. A Yanomamo B. A pheasant C. A peasant D. A horticulturist

3. The method of anthropology that includes both objective surveillance and interviews with natives as they do daily activities is called:

- A. Etic approach B. Materialist approach C. Participant observation D. Quantitative

4. Trobriand Island women traditionally create their own wealth by:

- A. Growing betel nut B. Raising tobacco C. Prostitution D. Making banana leaf bundles

5. Which is TRUE about the Trobriands?

- A. Annette Weiner and Bronislaw Malinowski both did fieldwork there
B. Inheritance is through women, not men
C. Men raise yams, but they give them all to their female relatives
D. Only men are chiefs
E. All of these are true

6. In the reading "Tricking and Tripping", what one thing was NOT found by the anthropologist?

- A. Concerns about HIV B. Inconsistent usage of condoms C. Drug use
D. Violence E. Women who chose streetwalking to get rich, and did become wealthy

7. Where do the Yanomamo live?

- A. Mexico and Guatemala B. Africa C. Brazil and Venezuela
D. Arizona and New Mexico E. Peru and Argentina F. New Guinea

8. Most of what the Yanomamo eat is:

- A. Food bought from the store B. From plants grown in their gardens
C. Meat the men hunt D. Meat from the animals they raise

9. Which is NOT found among the Yanomamo?

- A. Men can have more than one wife
B. They were excellent canoe builders
C. Villages called shabonos, each with several families
D. Some men are more dominant and fierce than others

10. Chagnon's first experiences among the Yanomamo included:

- A. They wanted his peanut butter and hot dogs, but none of his other food
B. They were gracious and polite to him
C. On the first day a group of dirty, sweaty men with green slime dripping from their nostrils inspected him
D. They gave him real information about peoples' names and genealogies
E. They respected his belongings and never touched them
F. All of these

PRINT FIRST NAME _____ LAST NAME

BONUS QUESTION: When Chagnon first went to study the Yanomamo, he thought that violence was always part of their culture; he later discovered that in fact the villages he was visiting were involved in a particular war. What event happened 15 years before he arrived that started the war?

© Original Artist
Reproduction rights obtainable from www.CartoonStock.com

