

Matching: match the term to the description; each term is used once (one to one matching):

- ethnography paleoanthropology medical anthropology primatology
- ethnology forensic anthropology linguistic anthropology archaeology
- applied anthropology holistic perspective

- _____ is the study of the fossils of ancient humans, and their biological evolution
- _____ is the study of human skeletal remains for legal purposes
- _____ is the study of the artifacts of past humans, and their culture
- _____ is the study of monkeys and apes
- _____ means that anthropology studies humans in an all-inclusive, wide perspective
- _____ is the study of human language and Languages
- _____ is the study of the culture of one particular society, and also a book written about it
- _____ is the comparative study of many cultures, "culture in general"
- _____ is the broad study of human health, disease, and healing.
- _____ is the use of anthropology to solve practical problems

Circle the letter (only) of the ONE best answer:

6. When studying geography, a globe is better than a flat map of the world; why?

- A. A flat map distorts the relative sizes of the countries and continents
- B. A flat map distorts the shapes of the countries and continents
- C. A flat map has a "center", which seems to give that region more importance to the world.
- D. All of these are true.

7. Which is FALSE about Franz Boas?

- A. Boas taught and inspired a generation of anthropologists - he "fathered" American anthropology.
- B. Boas initiated the four field approach of combining biology, archaeology, culture, and linguistics
- C. Boas studied Eskimos and Indians.
- D. Boas opposed the 19th century evolutionary ideas, instead believed every society was unique and complex, with its own particular history.
- E. Boas is associated with the idea of cultural relativism.
- F. Boas believed that the study of human biology would lead us to identify inferior races, and exclude them from having children in the future.

8. Cultural Relativism is the opposite of:

- A. Ethnocentrism B. Culture-bound theories
- C. Believing that all societies should be judged by the rules of your own culture
- D. Looking at other cultures in terms of your own.
- E. All of these are the opposite of cultural relativism.

9. Which is NOT one of the studies done by anthropologists that you just read about?

- A. How traditional healing in Africa is flourishing in the era of AIDS.
- B. Mayan ceremonial centers were actually large permanent cities with tens of thousands of residents.
- C. "Globalization" includes the study of how the idea of same-sex marriages spreads and changes.
- D. Archaeologists study modern garbage to learn how much people really drink.
- E. Anthropologists have determined that anthropology is entirely scientific, and contains no aspects of the type of studies we call the humanities.

10. The Nacirema article shows us that:

- A. Everything has a function B. All people are violent by nature
- C. Their Holy Mouth Men speak in many languages
- D. Americans can look strange to people of other cultures
- E. Nacirema have no beliefs about medicine

print your LAST NAME _____ FIRST NAME _____

BONUS Q. Explain how the Nacirema article warns us to be careful when we observe and describe other cultures: