

1. Lemurs live only on the islands of _____ and _____
2. Nocturnal means active at night;
what term means “active at dawn and dusk”? _____
what term means active at various times, day and night? _____
3. How and why are there so many different kinds of lemurs all in that one small area?

4. How and why did many lemurs go extinct in the last few thousand years?

5. Some people think that lemuriformes and lorisiformes are not two distinct, monophyletic clades; which family of lemurs is most like a family of lorioids?

6. What are the characteristics of these two groups (in # 5) that suggest they might be closely related?

4 points Identify the lemur (any Lemuriformes) by genus and species:

- _____ is the smallest primate
- _____ is the only lemur that loses its upper incisors
- _____ is cryptic in coloration
- _____ occupies the woodpecker econiche
- _____ is the largest lemur
- _____ hibernates, sort of
- _____ consumes significant amounts of cyanide
- _____ has rodent-like incisors
- _____ is one in which the vulvas seal up and the testes shrink in the time between breeding seasons

PRINT NAME _____

BONUS Q: discuss “baby parking”

