

WHO AM I? Circle the one best answer.

1. I have a prehensile tail, so I must be a:

- prosimian catarrhine New World Monkey Old World Monkey

1a. I have big eyes and I eat insects, I'm a:

- loris catarrhine marmoset Old World Monkey

2. I have a complete bony eye socket, so I must be:

- an anthropoid a prosimian a lemur a loris

2a. I live on Madagascar; I must be a:

- lemur loris tarsier marmoset spider monkey

2 points. What are the differences that distinguish anthropoid and prosimian primates?

Fill in each square of the box with a word or few:

Characteristics	Prosimian	Anthropoid
active time of day
body size
vision
nose/snout
food
grooming
social groups
locomotion

3 points describe differences in:	Platyrrhines	Catarrhines:
noses
tooth count
sitting posture

Match one to one:

- Colobus Ringtail baboon marmoset howler Langur

- _____ has a multipart stomach to digest leaves _____ is an African cheek pouch terrestrial monkey _____ is a small new world monkey that eats gum and sap and has twin births and claw-like nails _____ has a prehensile tail _____ is a sacred monkey in India _____ is a common lemur

PRINT YOUR FIRST NAME _____ LAST NAME _____

BONUS QUESTION: Jane Goodall's writings about her first research at Gombe were not accepted by her teachers and by other researchers; why not?