

Questioning

Homework Assignment

Select a topic that you think you may want your students to learn something about in your own classroom. Identify that topic on your paper along with the grade level of the students that you will be working with. Then, design the following:

- A statement of purpose for this topic that will effectively "sell your chili"
- Two convergent and two divergent questions about this topic.
- Two questions from each cognitive level about this topic
- Two higher-order Beam, Focus, Build questions and two higher-order Focus, Beam, Build questions about this topic. (4 different questions)
- Two Response-dependent question sequences about this topic.

The questions should focus on what you think might be the most important aspects about this topic and they should all be phrased as questions, not statements.
