

I've been investing in my kids education since they were born, and I really wanted to lead by example, and by doing that I needed to come back to school and get my bachelor's degree. It's about being passionate and it's about, you know, doing the right thing. So my kids are gonna watch me walk across the stage and, you know, I hope to see them do the same thing one day, you know?