

Well we have several options in the School of Education, basically there are four.

One is it masters in Elementary Education, a masters in Secondary Education, a masters in Special Education, and a Masters of Science and ED leadership.

In addition to that, we understand that we need to provide our students not only theory, but the opportunity to practice what they are doing.

So we do that, we make sure that the application states, because knowledge is no good if you can't apply it, and so we make sure that our students are prepared because they're representing Indiana University, and as I tell my students they're representing me, and I'm therefore going to push them to become the best that they can be, because we are impacting the lives of children.

We have that sensitivity here at this university.
